THE HUSKERS

Heap high the farmer's wintry board!
Heap high the golden corn!
No richer gift has automn poured had, From out her lavish born. Let other lands exulting glean The apple from the pine,

The crange from its glossy green; The cluster from the vine. We better love the hardy gift Our rugged vales be tow. To cheer us when the sterm shall drift Our harvest fields with snow.

When spring-time came with flower and And grasses green and young. And merry bob'links, in the wood, Like mad musicians sung,

We dropped the serd o'er hill and plain Beneath the sun of May, And frightened from our sprouting grain The robber-crows away.

All through the long bright days of June
Its leaves grew thin and feir,
And waved in hot midspramer's noon
Its so't and yellow hair: And now, with autuon's moon-lit eves,

Its harvest-time has come. We pluck away the frosty leaves And bear the treasure homes Where, richer than the fabled gift

Of golden showers of old.

Fair bands the broken grain shall sift,
And kneed its mest of gold. Let vapid idlers loll in silk
Around their costly board;
Give us the bowl of samp and milk,

By homespun brauty poured. Where er our wide old kitchen hearth Sends up its smoky curls, Who will not thank the kindly earth, And bless our corn-fed girls?

Let earth withhold her goodly root, Let mildew blight the rye, flive to the worm the orchard's fruit, The wheat field to the fly; But let the good old crop adorn
The hills our fathers fred;
Still let us for His golden Corn
Send up our thanks to God!

Agricultural and Practical

Root Chors,-Should now all be safely housed, or if stored up in pits and well covered with straw and dirt, a trench should be dug all around to protect from water. The latter plan is the best, as they will keep fresher, and preserve their natural flavor.

Pourray,-Should be provided with uitable compartments to roost in, where they will be kept warm and dry. Feed them liberally with ment once a week, and supply them with gravel, ashes and plaster, and they will return the extra abor with a bountiful supply of eggs.

How TO STOP THE FLOW OF BLOOD. -Housekeepers, mechanics and others andling knives, tools and other sharp instruments, frequently receive severe cuts from which blood flows profusely, Mrs. J. H. Gardner, and often endangers life itself. Blood Has also a leading place in our Sempic Room at Cleveland and is too well known to need further comment. As it has become quite a too common practices for parties to call inferior instrainable good and sell them for such, we hope to be successful in establishing a perminent trade on a uniform basife of fair dealing and thereby secure the entire confidence of the public. Miss Briggs,

Young Cours .- A contributor to the Farmer's Advertiser says that by feeding young colts a considerable amount of grain, in conjunction with bay, and other light articles of food, they thrive better, and their limbs become better knit than if fed only on light food. If a proper supply of food be withheld while an animal is young, it will be injured in its constitution, and consequently in its value, to a far greater extent than any saving that can be effect-

To REMOVE THE TASTE FROM NEW Voon -- A new keg, churn, bucket, or wooden vessel, will generally ommunicate a disagreeable odor to nything that is put in it. To prevent this inconvenience, first scald the vessel with boiling water, letting the water remain in it until it is cold. Then dissolve some pearlash or sods in luke-warm water, adding a little bit of lime o it, and wash the vessel well with the olution. Afterwards scald it well with olain hot water, and rinse it with cold water before you use it. STEEL PENS .- If a steel pen is hard and obstinate, refuses to yield when ressed, and annoys by its rigidity hold it a half minute or less in the flame of a gas light or candle and stick it into water, oil, or tallow. In most act, it is a good practice to pass a steel pen through the flame of a lamp before using it. This burns off the oil used in tempering and prevents that slipping of the ink, or the refusal to flow, generally noticed in all new steel pens.

The people of Lafayette, Ind., had a grand rood-sawing tournament for the benefit of the poor in that city on Friday. Four "nines" entered for the contest, as follows: Young Men's Christian Association pine Hoosier Base Ball Club nine; Unknown (Feniau) nine; and Independent nine. A big procession was formed, headed by a oand of music, which escerted the four nines to the wood-piles which had been enclosed by a high fence. The sawyers marched to the place with their saws at what the military call "right shoulder shift." Four piles of wood were built, each containing nine cords, and each "nine" attacking a pile. The time exhausted in sawing the wood ranged between three and four hours. A large crowd of ladies and gentlemen were present, cheering the contratants in their labors. Besides the thirty-six cords of wood thus provided for the poor, over one hundred dollars from other sources were realized.

ONSUMPTIVES.

It is authentically stated that one fifth of the inhabitants of this country and Europe die of Consumption. No disease has been more thoroughlystudied, and its nature less understood; there is no disease upon which exists a greater diversity of opinion and no disease which has more completely beilled all medical skill and remedial agencies.
Some of the prominent symptoms are Cough, Exrectoration, Shortness of Breath, Fritation about the Lungs and Chest, darling Pains in the Sides and Back, Empointon, and general negative condition of the whole system. Hack, Empointion, and general negative condition of the whole system.

Petrons suffering with this dread disease, or any of its concomilants, should lose no time in possessing themselves of the proper Ramedy, in order that they may stay its ravages, and be restored to health. The Unquestionably the best sustained work of the kind in the World." HARPER'S BRISTOL & TAYLOR NEW MONTHLY MAGAZINE.

Critical Notices of the Press. The most popular Monthly in the world - New Fork Observer.

We must refer in terms of enlogy to he high tone and varied excellences of Harper's Magazine—a joint-neal with a monthly circulation of about 120,000 cupies—in whose pages are to be found some of the choicest light and general resulting of the day. We speak of this work as an oridence of the culture of the choicest light and general resulting of the day of the work as an oridence of the culture of the damenton People; and the popularity it has acquired is merited. Each number contains fully 144 pages of reading matter, appropriately illustrated with good wood-cute; and it combines in itself the racy monthly and the more philos phical quarterly, blended with the best features of the daily oursal. It has great power in the descendantion of a love of pure literature, Liendon. We can account for its specess only by the simple fact that it meets precisely the popular taste, furnishing a variety of pleasing and instructive reading for all—Zian's Herald, Botton.
